

Absolutely do not allow cell phone use on airplanes! It is both a public nuisance and a private one. Imagine sitting elbow to elbow with someone constantly talking for hours, often in an elevated tone. I am a "frequent flyer" on many trips, the shortest generally 2 hours about every 6 weeks, the longest several times a year each to Brazil and Japan. Communications by email work best on public transit. Even Japan, with extremely high cell phone usage, does not allow them on the trains and subways. Keep me informed.
